“ Uncle William was true to his beliefs and never wavered (that I knew of) in his faith. He was always kind and loving to me. I particularly remember him teaching me to draw his bow. I couldn't because I wasn't strong enough but he could draw it back like it was nothing. A strong, good man who loved his family.

“ I recall the times my dad in law would take me on fishing trips, something he loved doing as much as anyone I had ever met. I will cherish those memories and miss his great heart and love for the lord and his family dearly! RIP William! Buddy
