“ My mother-in-law, Evelyn, introduced me to her Aunt Virginia and Uncle Dewey years before I ever married her son, Kevin. It was at the Wilbert family's Christmas gathering of 1996 that Evelyn first bragged on how much Dewey and Virginia had given her and so many others throughout their lives. In fact, every single year until she passed away in 2013, Evelyn shared countless stories about their spirit of giving, always crediting her Aunt Virginia and Uncle Dewey with showing her the joy in giving back to others.

Proverbs 20:7 says, "The righteous man walks in his integrity; his children are blessed after him." Everyone knew Dewey to be true to who he was, so people always expected a genuine smile along with a joke or words of wisdom. God and family were at the heart of everything Dewey chose to make of his life. To Evelyn, Uncle Dewey was a great dad who even provided for those who were not his own, and Aunt Virginia was a great mom who was always ready to care for and cook for those who would otherwise go without. Rightfully so, Evelyn always considered Dewey and Virginia to be her best uncle and aunt.

With Dewey and Virginia being married 56 years, it's difficult to think of them as individuals. To everyone who knew them, they completed each other. What a blessing to know that Virginia along with other loved ones who have gone on before Dewey met him at the throne of God as he was escorted into Heaven!

Please know that we are praying for Dewey's loved ones. May God grant each of you peace just as He has so many memories to treasure.
