“ I have fond memories of that southern drawl and his larger-than-life presence. His joy and love of life hung on every laugh that so easily escaped him. He contained his pain when he could and kept his struggles to himself but was open and honest when he wanted to talk. Optimism was second nature and he welcomed me with a large hug from the first day we met. I am so grateful to have known Ted and will always carry the smile he put on my heart.

Sincerely,
Cam - a neighbor and friend
