“ Ricky and Andrew Sappington were my best friends growing up. Every Sunday, after church, his Mom would let the three of us play Monopoly, on the front porch of their house, on Danton Ln. Ricky’s Mom also served as referee for the disagreements resulting from Monopoly rule disagreements. 😂 We spent our summers in the woods behind Ricky’s childhood home exploring and building forts. Ricky had the coolest Star Wars collection ever. When I think back to my childhood summers, Ricky is always in those memories. Over the years, we have stayed in touch. Learning of your departure from this life has greatly saddened me. You wer the best (and only) chicken farmer I know. 🍷 I will miss you my friend. God bless you and your family.

“ Ricky was one of kind. He helped so many people without expecting anything in return. He was an amazing brother and he was so full of life. It is hard for me to imagine the fact that he is gone. My hope now is he is resting in the arms of our lord and he is safe and happy. I love you Ricky...so much more than words can say.

Love,

Your Sis

“ I have never had anyone stick up for me, take me in as family, and challenge me like Rick. There will always be a hole in my heart from the absence of his laughter. My sincerest condolences to his family.
