“ I have many warm memories of Sharon since we first met at the bus stop in Quinton at the beginning of second grade. We played together, walked back and forth to each other's homes, knew each other's families and grew from childhood to adolescence and from there into responsible adults. Sharon went her way and I went mine with occasional contact. I was proud of Sharon's accomplishments as a small business owner within the surrounding community we grew up in. My favorite memories are of the times in adolescence when we pushed the boundaries of childhood and forged our way into the adults that we became, breaking the rules all along the way. I treasure those moments in time, in a time in our lives, when we were going to make our mark upon the world, and that we did.
